

LIV BEC —

"I was not expecting that!" is the reaction Liv Bec loves to hear from new fans after stepping off stage. Her music is a striking mix of the familiar and the new, the edgy and the sensual, the underground of the city, and the heat of the volcano; all maintained while still carving out a fresh, original space in modern alternative rock. Bec declares her own genre: can sing like an angel but chooses to make music that's rough around the edges; the beloved in between.

WOMAN

Bec's radical new track captures the reality of being overlooked, delivering the controversial message that women hold the secret to success. With "Woman", Bec uses her smart-ass lyrics and gritty vocals to express the unspoken connection all women share; the understanding that women do it better. A combination of dirty guitar riffs, bass, drums, keyboard, and synths accompanies her powerhouse vocals crafting a sonic experience that demands attention.
